

Fall Winter

During our photo-shoot for this season, the first creature to cross our path was a coyote. While always viewed as a trickster, some Native American tribes consider Coyote the creator of humanity, an important reminder that we are intrinsically linked to the natural world. That's why here at Nomads we continue to work so hard to find and develop the greenest fabrics, and manufacturing processes we can find.

This season hemp goes transcendental in our new vegan hemp "wool" and woven knits. We have three new unique mind-expanding prints, and more colours in our hemp fabrics than ever. We continue to push the envelope for eco clothing in hemp, organic cotton, soy, and bamboo, and blend the past with the future in our signature mix of Modern Vintage styles.

Colour & Pattern Chart

We always do our best to match our printed colour swatches in our catalogue to the fabric colours we use, but the simple truth is that ink pigment, fabric pigment, and for that matter, screen colours are not the same. Please use this chart as a reference only for the great colour array we have chosen this season.
